INDIANAPOLIS, IN – The Indiana Latino Institute, Inc. (ILI) invites all students, especially Latino high school students, and their parents to an education fair for the 2009 school year coordinated through its education initiative, “Careers for the Future.” The fair will be on Thursday, February 5, 2009 at Northwest High School, 5525 W. 34th Street, Indianapolis, IN 46224 from 6:00m to 8:30pm in the school cafeteria. Admission is free.

The Indiana Latino institute, Inc has been conducting these fairs for over two years as a part of a coordinated effort to help bridge the gap between high school and access to college supports for Latino students in obtaining post secondary education. ILI’s education fair will offer information on scholarship opportunities, college admissions process, summer internships, Indiana college representatives and volunteer opportunities. This is the last of three Education Fairs during the 2008-2009 school year. A special presentation on Immigration Issues and Higher Education will be given by Angela Adams with Lewis and Kappes Law Firm.

There will be opportunities for all high school seniors and college freshman who would like to participate in a paid summer internship for 2009 which eligibility requires that you register at the education fair. There will also be an opportunity for all high school seniors and college freshman and sophomores to apply for a scholarship at the college of their choice or current enrollment anywhere in the state of Indiana. Also, there will be a raffle for four (refurbished) computers donated by Net Literacy that you can take home the same day.
